ABSTRACT

A system and method to provide secure communication across the untrusted public switched telephone network includes a set of rules in a security policy which are implemented by a virtual private switched telecommunications network (VPSTN). The 5   VPSTN provides for intercepting voice calls and modifying their set-up to include a request for bearer capability to support a data call.